Thinking "Taxes" Now - Could Save You Money Later

This year, more than almost any other, it may well pay for taxpayers to "think taxes" in November and December.

Why? Simply because the new tax law has made it possible for millions of Americans to cut their taxes in a variety of ways. But to do so, the law has some new features that can take time to figure out and apply.

And then there's the matter of gathering together records. The new law, in some instances, requires certification to substantiate a deduction. Getting a document now could save the taxpayer considerable time and effort later. Of course, wise taxpayers who itemize their deductions have always checked over their records well before the start of the filing season so that they could have an accurate count of medical, charitable, and other deductions.

Having a complete account of all deductions is particularly important because this year the standard deduction has been increased, possibly making it more advantageous to claim the standard deduction, using the Short Form 1040A, than to itemize deductions. The new standard deduction is 16% of adjusted gross income, up to a maximum of $2,600 for those filing joint returns, $2,300 for a single person, and $1,300 for married persons filing separately.

Most taxpayers should take the time to compute their taxes based both on the new standard deduction and on itemizing deductions to determine which method cuts their tax bill more. Once the tax forms arrive, it's much simpler and quicker for the taxpayer to determine whether to itemize or take the standard deduction if he or she took the time beforehand to get a "fix" on itemized deductions.

Two other changes in the law make early record-checking very important this year. The first is the credit for the purchase of a new residence. Generally, the credit is 5% of the adjusted basis of the new home, to a maximum of $2,000, provided the taxpayer meets certain requirements. Among the qualifications that must be met for the credit is certification by the seller that the purchase price at which the residence was offered for sale since Feb. 28, 1975, Home buyers who are eligible for the credit, but didn't get the certificate when they settled on their new home, should ask their builder for a certificate right away. Without the certificate, the IRS cannot allow the credit.

The other change affects those who sell a home and then buy another to live in. For some time, homeowners could postpone all or part of the capital gains tax on the sale of their principal residence if they reinvested the money in another home within a specified period of time. The time limit now has been lengthened. But to take full advantage of the liberalized provisions, the homeowner must have at hand complete records on the old home as well as the new.

One other thought: frequently people change homes because they change jobs. Those who have changed their jobs should check now that they have a W-2 Form from their old employer to include with the W-2 they'll be getting from their new employer.

Gathering records in November and December can not only help in taking full advantage of tax breaks in the new law, but also in making the most of the old law as well.

DONKEY BASKETBALL GAME AT TELSTAR, DEC. 8

The Donkey Basketball Game scheduled at 7:30 on Monday evening, Dec. 8, will put the Senior Girls against the Senior Boys in a game that will be filled with laughs, thrills and fun galore. They'll have trouble staying on the donkeys from time to time. Of course, this will bring much laughter to the fans. Donkey Basketball has often been called the "funniest show on earth." It combines the circus, rodeo, and basketball. It is a source of laughter from the time the players attempt to climb on the donkey until the final whistle.

New cowboy stars will be born during the game. Out of nowhere will come new heroes and heroines of the circus world. Of course, the new found stars will only be local riders, but the thrills they give the fans will not be forgotten. You will want to bring your whole family to this fun-filled evening.

This show is sponsored by the Spanish Club. All proceeds from this show will be for the benefit of the trip to Puerto Rico. Advance tickets are on sale now.

Horizon Group's Survey Results Indicate Support

Results of the survey conducted by the Horizon Group of the Bethel Bicentennial Committee exhibit considerable positive interest in the matters covered in the questionnaire distributed by the group. Results of the survey follow:

Survey Results — Part 1

Question 1. There seems to be a need for our town to explore what recreation services and facilities are needed by our citizens.

Strongly agree 52% Agree 40% 92% Uncertain 6% Disagree 1% Strongly disagree 1% 2%

Question 3. Because of the importance of recreation services, including open space and facility development, Bethel should have a 5-year development plan for recreational services.

Strongly agree 31% Agree 38% 70% Uncertain 22% Disagree 4% Strongly disagree 3% 7%

Question 4. To develop this plan Bethel should include in a warrant for town meeting, the appointment of a Recreation Commission by the selectmen.

Strongly agree 35% Agree 42% 77% Uncertain 16% Disagree 4% Strongly Disagree 3% 7%

It is clearly evident by the results that the residents of Bethel recognize the need for recreation services. Also, it is clear that they recognize the need for some sort of advisory body which would serve as coordinator of such services. And, by the frequency of "uncertain" replies, we may guess that there are some people who simply are not aware what all this may mean.

A recreation commission, or board, is one which is normally set up by an official warrant of the town. A number of five to seven persons are appointed by the selectmen to serve, unpaid, on this board. Their duty is to assess the recreational needs for the town and come up with a plan of action. The plan may reflect the need for such facilities as a ball field or a park or a community center, or such as a summer playground program for area children. Once their plan is sketched, priorities are established and funding is sought. Many avenues are open for this funding to recreation boards, which are not available to unofficial citizen groups. The recreation board is the official body recognized by state and local governments, foundations and organizations. State and federal funding programs offer assistance for towns to develop their resources. But, also governmental agencies, such as the Soil and Water Conservation Service, eagerly give

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

1975 property tax payments total $183,789 to Nov. 19, which is 42% of the total commitment.

One-half of the County Tax has been paid in the amount of $10,160. The other one-half will be paid in the very near future.

Frederick Stanley has been named sub-foreman in the Highway Department. He is to serve in this capacity only when Foreman Robert Davis is on vacation, sick leave, or for any other acceptable reason when he is absent for a full day.

Three applications were received last week for welfare assistance by reason of unemployment. In processing the applications it was determined that assistance was needed and was provided with the understanding that the head of the family work out the assistance and be credited $2.30 per hour for each hour worked. One has already reported to the Highway Dept. and worked out his assistance.

For every action there is a reaction and unquestionably there will be those who oppose this position. However, it is believed that the taxpayer in general will support this policy, that the town will at least get something in return for helping the needy, when they are physically able to help themselves. —Harold L. Bean

Red Cross Blood Drawing Clinic is Success Monday

The Red Cross Bloodmobile, coupled with an extremely efficient corps of local volunteers, conducted a very successful blood drawing clinic in Bethel on Monday afternoon. Thanks to the cooperation of donors and volunteer workers from Albany, Bethel, Bryant Pond, Gilead, Locke Mills, Newry and Sunday River, 126 pints of blood were drawn. This amount meets the quota for this area.

Except for the six or seven staff members who accompanied the Bloodmobile, all workers were recruited from communities in the surrounding area.

The local chapter of the American Red Cross is very proud of the community spirit exhibited by all participants and extends their appreciation to Gould Academy for the use of their facilities, to all donors and those who volunteered but were unable to give, to those who recruited donors, furnished cookies or food for the supper, and to all volunteer nurses and other workers who were so generous with their time and efforts.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO MEET DEC. 4

The monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society will be held on Thursday evening, Dec. 4, at 7:30 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Everyone who has a toy or doll that might have been a Christmas gift many years ago is urged to bring it as there will be a display of these items. A slide series on Christmas decorations at Colonial Williamsburg will also be shown. All members and anyone interested are urged to attend. Those with costumes (bicentennial or other) are requested to wear them in order to add to the festivities.

As December is membership month, renewal notices will be sent out this week. If you do not belong to the Bethel Historical Society and wish to be active in preserving and promoting the study of Bethel's heritage, please call 824-2908. Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Once again we approach the season of Thanksgiving and still is heard over our world, "How shall we find peace? And, Where is the place of understanding?"

It seems to me that the thing we need most today, if we are to find the answer to these questions, is to return to an appreciation of little things, the small blessings of life of which we have many.

So at this Thanksgiving season I give you Esther Mishler's I OFFER THANKS "For the dawn as it comes slowly over the hill, with the birds waking and starting to sing; For giving me noontide when the sun stands high and whistles blow so that people rush to dine; For the quiet afternoon when the sun moves lazily westward to set in majestic glory. For the evening, when the night begins to tuck us in and a moon beckons us out to watch it settle; For the stars giving a brilliant welcome to lovers in the crisp, cool air; For the land on which I thrive and the goodness we get from it. And when I grow weary of treading through fallen leaves, or plunging into the snowdrift, or imbibing the spring's sweetness, I offer thanks for the home I may go to, and for the care and comfort I receive from the guardians placed in my home.

For the country I live in and the freedoms I enjoy; For the people who are my friends, neighbors, and fellow countrymen. For all these, and much more, I offer my ardent thanks!"

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Curtis recently drove friends to Florida then returned by bus.

Helen Chojnacki who has been a patient at the Norway hospital for several days returned home over the week end.

Leonas Holt finished work on our roof over the week end. Now, let it rain or let it snow!

Annie Mills, Shapleigh, came on Friday to spend the week end with me.

Another personal shower was given on Sunday afternoon to Lucy Bragg at the home of her mother, Eva Felton, and sister, Kathy Curtis. There were twenty who attended and she received a variety of lovely gifts.

Jim Tobin, Gray, who was hunting on the Hayes place this week end, shot a bear.

Fred Curtis had the misfortune to lose his house in Bingham by fire on Nov. 15. Everything was lost as the men were out hunting when it burned.

The Hayes boy and their families visited the Hayes Homestead over the week end.

Barbara Pelletier was hostess to a housewares party at her home on Friday. She served luncheon at noon after which many left only to return shortly with a bassinet filled with gifts for a personal shower. A surprise!

Mr. and Mrs. Rolly Hayes and Elmer Hayes had supper Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hayes, West Paris.

JACKSON - SILVER POST & UNIT #68

Jackson-Silver Post and Unit No. 68, American Legion and Auxiliary, Locke Mills, met for their regular meetings Thursday evening, Nov. 20, with Commander and President Lovejoy presiding.

Marion Jordan, refreshment chairman for the weekly game parties, reported and turned in the receipts for the month, to treasurer Vera Cross. The members appreciate her efforts and faithfulness.

The Unit voted a sum of money to help the Community Club with their annual Christmas baskets and to put $5 in the Girl State Fund. The Legion and Auxiliary shared in the $50 voted to help a needy family who are down on their luck. Sylvia Dunham and Barbara Wilson will check on their needs. Sorry this was not brought to the Legion's attention sooner. It's every members duty to be on the alert for folks, especially children, who need a lift.

New members accepted were Polly Croteau, Barbara Wilson and Comrade Leroy Martin Jr., of Bryant Pond. The Unit is now 100% plus. The men still need the fellows to bring in their dues. All goes for worthy causes.

Seven members of the Unit in their white dresses and gloves and wearing their Auxiliary caps, went to South Paris, Nov. 12 to initiate 18 members into the Foster-Carroll Unit #72. The team was District President Sylvia Dunham, Jerri Brooks of Bethel; Vera Cross, Grace Smith; President Cathryn Lovejoy; Chaplain Fannie Cummings; Junior member Ellen Lovejoy at the piano and Belle Lavorgna acting as Sgt-at-Arms. A supper preceded the ceremony and President Bessie Pope gave each one a gift.

Finance Officer Warren Smith to return shortly with a bassinet filled with gifts for a personal shower. A surprise!

Mr. and Mrs. Rolly Hayes and Elmer Hayes had supper Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hayes, West Paris.

SEN. HATHAWAY REQUESTS OPINIONS ON GUN CONTROL

With the controversy over gun control increasing in Congress, U. S. Senator William D. Hathaway has asked Maine residents to voice their opinion on the issue.

In a special newsletter mailed this week, Hathaway said he was devoting this month's entire newsletter to gun control "because of the great public interest in this debate and the possibility of Congressional action soon."

Featured in the newsletter is a "mini-questionnaire" on federal gun control policy alternatives; Hathaway said, the results of which will be made public as soon as possible.

In Hathaway's 1975 Questionnaire last spring, 60% of those responding favored handgun registration, with certain county tabulations indicating opposition to the concept.

The newsletter should reach all Maine citizens on Hathaway's mailing list within the next few days. Persons not receiving a copy who wish to have the newsletter may write or call any of Hathaway's four district offices in Bangor, Biddeford, Portland and Lewiston; Aroostook County field representative Chub Clark in Fort Fairfield, or by writing the Washington office.

OCTOBER UNEMPLOYMENT SHOWS INCREASE OVER SEPTEMBER RATE

Emilien A. Levesque, Commissioner of the Maine Department of Manpower Affairs, has announced that Maine's official unemployment rate increased slightly to 8.9% in October from 8.6% in September.

This increase in the rate, which is computed by dividing the number unemployed by the civilian labor force, was due more to a significant seasonal contraction in the labor force than to any substantial change in the number of jobless workers. The estimated number of jobless persons increased by 100 to 38,800 in October from 37,700 in September.

The substantial contraction in the labor force from 450,400 in September to 437,300 in October was mostly attributable to a drop in the number of seasonal agricultural workers employed in the potato and apple harvests.

Nonfarm wage and salary jobs also registered a seasonal decline totaling 900 jobs; however, encouragingly this drop was far less than that registered during the same period in the prior year (—4,300).

The decline in nonfarm wage and salary jobs was the net result of an increase of 300 jobs in the manufacturing sector, and of a decrease of 1,200 jobs in nonmanufacturing. The net gain in manufacturing occurred as a result of a drop of 500 jobs in the durable goods industries which was more than offset by an increase of 800 jobs in the nondurable goods sector. In nonmanufacturing, most of the seasonal decline occurred in construction (—400), trade (—2,200), and services (—1,600).

In contrast, State and local governments experienced the usual seasonal increase in jobs (+3,200) as the school systems geared up to full schedules.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE THANKSGIVING SERVICE AT BERLIN, N. H., NOV. 28

It's easy to be grateful for the turkey and dressing and pumpkin pie on Thanksgiving. It's harder to be grateful for what the turkey cost and for the paycheck that didn't stretch as far as it did last Thanksgiving.

But this very problem may bring people to the point of discovering that there are solutions to this and other problems. They're spiritual solutions. On Thanksgiving morning, many Christian Scientists will take time to express gratitude for the solutions they have found. They will join with friends and neighbors for a simple worship service. Time will be set aside during the service for telling how they found some practical spiritual answers to their problems along with deeper meaning in life which can't be touched by inflation or economic recession.

There will also be a short selection of inspirational readings on Thanksgiving from the Bible and Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, which tell about God's love and provision for mankind.

The solo, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," a Netherlands Folk Song, will be played by David D. Thompson of Bethel, organist.

The service will begin at 11 a. m. and will include a reading of the Thanksgiving Proclamation of Gerald Ford, President of the United States. No collection will be taken.

The church is located at Main and Tenth Streets, Berlin, N. H. There is a children's room where little ones and young people not ready for church will be cared for during the service.

Everyone is invited to attend.

GILEAD WOMEN'S CLUB TO MEET TUESDAY

There will be a meeting of the Gilead Women's Club at the Gilead school house on Tuesday, Dec. 2. Plans will be finalized for the Christmas tree and food sale.

U.M.O. SENIOR DOING STUDENT TEACHING IN WALES

"DOWNEAST DIARY" IS PUBLISHED BY UMO PRESS

The 400-page "Downeast Diary", written by Charles H. Foster of Luray, Va., and a former Bowdoin College English Professor, has been published by the University of Maine Press at Orono. Foster was the guest of honor at a reception and tea Friday, Nov. 21, at the Fogler Library on the University's Orono campus. The book involves the editing of the diary of Foster's grandfather and covers the years from 1847 to 1853 when the elder Foster was a teenager in Orono and student at Bowdoin.

HONORS PROGRAM CENTER DEDICATED AT ORONO

An open house and tea Thursday, Nov. 20, officially dedicated the University of Maine at Orono's first permanent Honors Program home. The Honors Program Center, located just south of the Hauck Auditorium, was constructed with student labor from the agricultural and forest engineering programs. The structure includes six modules put together in the agricultural engineering department and erected on an above ground foundation with built-up beam flooring. The Honors Program at UMO now includes some 250 students.

HIGH INTEREST RATE SHOULD NOT DETER TIDAL POWER —SAYS UMO CONSULTANT

A Passamaquoddy tidal power project is feasible if you are willing to ignore the interest rate occasioned by the construction of a hydroelectric station, according to Richard C. Hill, director of the department of industrial cooperation at the U. of M., Orono. Hill has also noted that when the saving of irreplaceable natural resources such as oil are involved, then the interest rate, a part of the traditional balance of operating costs versus capital costs, should not be a drawback to such a project. Hill is a state consultant on many energy matters.

Regardless of what is at the hands of the board members, the task must still depend on their individual talents and ideas. The final outcome rests on the receptiveness and resourcefulness of the townspeople. The receptiveness is present. Many comments and volunteering of help assure us that this endeavor is not a shot in the dark, but an endeavor very much alive and growing.

Recreation is one of those services which more people every day are demanding. Like education and health care, recreation is certainly as important to them. But recreation means many different things to different people, and to all it represents new and challenging different ways to spend free time. Recreation, to the factory worker or mill worker, a means for releasing tensions built up in an unchallenging work environment; to the white collar worker, it is a way to break from the routine of the rat race; to the lonely, it is a means to find a place in this world, and friends to share it. And recreation becomes creative expression on the basketball courts and on canyons. Public recreation has the advantage of providing a wide variety of opportunities to everyone for only a fraction of the cost, should an individual want to purchase all his own equipment.

While there are many able to purchase a TV set, there are many fewer who have the means of equipping themselves for play. Young and old alike, recreation serves the inner need for enjoyment, and public lands provide a place for this to happen. A walk in a park, a frenzied ball game (women's club), a ride on the swings, and an invigorating game of tennis. No matter what our age or walk of life, recreation is a vital human service to us all.

FALL WORKSHOP, MAINE CONFERENCE ON HUMAN SERVICE TO BE HELD DEC. 10

"Use it up. Make it do - or do without" is the theme selected for the Fall Workshop of the Maine Conference on Human Services to be held at the Dean Medical Education Building, Maine Coast Medical Center in Waterville on Wednesday, Dec. 10, starting at 9 a.m.

The workshop will explore survival techniques for human services in a staggering economy. Participants are urged to bring a bag lunch and spend the day, without a lunch break, talking with fellow participants in exploring ways to stretch and augment human services budgets.

Featured speakers of the workshops will be Geoffrey Faux, chairman, Citizens Committee on the Maine Economy; and Terry Ann Lunt-Aucoin, chairperson, Maine Human Rights Commission.

Three concurrent workshops after lunch will explore use of volunteers in agency programs, local-initiative projects, and expanding limited resources through cooperative efforts.

The day long affair, although geared to the people who work in human service fields, will also be important to the interested citizen at large.

Registration may be made by writing to the Maine Conference on Human Services, P. O. Box 39, Bethel, Maine 04530 or at the door on Dec. 10.

TIRE CHAINS AND RADIALS—A GOOD COMBINATION

Users of radial tires can continue to take advantage of the safety benefits of tire chains without concern about sidewall damage to the tires. Fact or fiction?

"Fact," claims Prof. Amos E. Neyhart, "in spite of rumors that tire chains may produce sidewall damage to radial tires." Neyhart is consultant on driver education, American Automobile Association, and former director of the Institute of Public Safety, Pennsylvania State University.

Neyhart cited independent tests conducted by the United States Auto Club under actual highway conditions that showed that tire chains and radial tires are entirely compatible.

According to the USAC report: "There was no evidence of sidewall or tread gouging on any of the radials tested, even after 150 miles at a sustained speed of 35 mph on dry, bare pavements, an exceptionally rigorous test condition."

With the growing popularity of radial tires, Neyhart said there has been concern that the flexing action of sidewalls, a characteristic of radial tires, could prevent a tire chain from "creeping" and therefore result in damage to the sidewall. A properly installed tire chain creeps about the circumference of a tire during normal use, he explained.

The USAC tests subjected the tires to unusually severe conditions, according to Neyhart, since there was no moisture present to serve as a lubricant between the tire and the chain.

"Normally," he continued, "when chains are being used, roads are covered with snow and ice which serves as a lubricant so that the chain can creep instead of staying fixed in one spot."

Neyhart pointed out that it is possible, of course, to damage any type of tire by improper use of chains or any other traction device. He advised correct size, proper fit and moderate driving speeds for long life and maximum performance of both tires and chains.

He also noted that tests by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards have shown that reinforced tire chains provide far better traction, both for stopping and pulling ability on snow and ice, than any other traction device or special tires alone.

"So motorists who use radial tires can continue to take advantage of the safety benefits of tire chains for severe snow and ice conditions," Neyhart concluded.

PREPARATION PAYS OFF IN WINTER DRIVING

Knowing what to expect, and then expecting the worst, is not being overly pessimistic when it comes to winter travel—at least that's the contention of Douglas M. Fergusson, director of safety services for Nationwide Insurance Company.

Fergusson's reasoning is that being forewarned is the first step in being prepared; and with automobile travel to winter sport areas expected to reach an all-time high this winter, the need for proper precautions is more crucial than ever before.

"In spite of current economic conditions and the high cost of gasoline, motorists are driving to new and ever-more remote parts of the country seeking winter sports areas," Fergusson pointed out. "Actually, they're looking for the very conditions (snow and ice) that make any auto trip downright treacherous!"

Fergusson has firsthand knowledge of winter's deadly tricks. He is vice-chairman of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards and has participated in many of the committee's annual winter driving test programs. Based on these experiences, and those of his fellow skid-testers, he offers these suggestions for safe, trouble-free driving:

Before you hit the road:

Have your car mechanic-checked to be sure it is in first-class mechanical condition — brakes, lights, electrical system, antifreeze, heater — defroster, windshield wipers and washers; the works.

Equip your car with proper tires with good treads. Snow tires are helpful for pulling through snow. Studded snow tires are better (where permitted) for added traction on icy pavements.

For severe snow and ice conditions, be sure your trunk contains a good set of reinforced tire chains and that you are prepared to use them.

The "emergency kit" in your trunk should also include a shovel, a container of sand or rock salt, a tow chain, battery booster cables and emergency flares and lights.

When you're on the road:

Keep your windshield, windows and rear-view mirrors clear at all times. Replace worn, streaking wiper blades immediately. Make sure your windshield washers contain an adequate anti-freeze solution.

Clean head and tail lights regularly. A barely visible film on lenses can decrease lighting power by as much as 25%.

Increase distances between you and cars ahead. Give yourself ample room for maneuvering or stopping.

Pump brakes to slow or stop. This technique keeps wheels rolling and helps maintain steering control.

When driving on winter-slick roads, get the feel of the road. Accelerate carefully or tap your brakes while away from traffic. See if the wheels spin or skid. If either occurs, reduce speed.

If a skid starts, steer in the direction of the skid—steer left if the rear skids left, steer right if the rear skids right.

Buckle your seat belt and shoulder.

DIED

In Rumford, Nov. 22, Mrs. Margaret E. Olson, aged 67 years. In Rockport, Nov. 24, Everett Enman of Washington, Maine, aged 67 years.

STATE POLICE URGE CARE ON THANKSGIVING TRIPS

"It's not always fair weather when families get together, so drive carefully on your Thanksgiving trip," cautioned the Maine State Police today.

Thanksgiving is America's family get-together holiday, which means that there will be more than usual travel under possible hazards of poor visibility and treacherous road surfaces.

Heavy travel, uncertain weather, early darkness, and holiday festivity combine to make this holiday particularly dangerous, said Col. Donald E. Nichols, Chief of the Maine State Police. Many persons are undoubtedly planning to drive considerable distances for the family gathering and the Thanksgiving dinner.

"If you are one of these who plan to drive during the coming holiday week end," the Maine State Police Chief advises to "please remember that one moment of carelessness, or an irresponsible or discourteous act, can ruin your holiday—and your life."

American Viewpoints

"Every man owes a part of his time and money to the business or industry in which he is engaged. No man has a moral right to withhold his support from an organization that is striving to improve conditions within his sphere."

Theodore Roosevelt

der harness. Be sure your passengers buckle up as well.

Pulling a trailer? Remember: icy or snow-clogged roads plus a trailer whipping behind your car compounds normal winter driving problems. Adjust your driving even more.

Fergusson concluded: "Be forewarned. Study routes in advance. Check weather reports. It's sensible to wait out any threatening storm!"

CUMMINGS CELEBRATE 55TH ANNIVERSARY NOV. 23

Mr. and Mrs. Alanson R. Cummings (Fannie L.) were honored on their 55th wedding anniversary by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Lovejoy and family, at their home, on the Flat Road, West Bethel.

They were married Nov. 25, 1920, in the West Paris Universalist Church, by Rev. Howard Markley and their attendants were Ellis Davis and Beatrice Smith Bennett.

They have one daughter, Cathryn Lovejoy, three grandchildren, Alanson and Ellen Lovejoy and Dorothy West, and two great grandchildren, Rebecca West and Shane Lovejoy.

Mr. Cummings, a veteran of W. W. I. and W. W. II has always been active in the American Legion. He ran a garage in West Paris for 18 years prior to moving to Connecticut in 1963, where he was employed by Pratt and Whitney Aircraft until his retirement in Jan. 1963. He was fire chief of West Paris fire department for eight years, served as constable and is an expert mechanic among his talents. His wife Fannie (Waterhouse) is a Past Dept. President, American Legion and Auxiliary, and has a flare for writing.

Granddaughter Ellen Lovejoy, tended the guest book, signed by approximately 90 folks. The same book has recorded their previous anniversaries and family parties.

The special cake was made by granddaughter Dorothy West. The corsages were presented them by the three grandchildren and the great granddaughter gave the bouquets of yellow rose buds.

Among the gifts were pieces of Bicentennial pottery and silver dollars. Congratulations were read from Senator Ed Muskie, State Commander Bob Rich, the American Legion and Harold Perham.

Helmi C. Lofredda served the refreshments of finger rolls, donuts, cream puffs, cake, dip, punch and coffee.

Music was enjoyed by the Lovejoy girls with their dad at the organ.
